The prior art of record provided numerous teachings of a telecommunications cell having a first plurality of antennas oriented for subdividing the first cell into a plurality of sectors. However, the prior art of record failed to specifically disclose a third base station sectors for coupled with the first antenna in each of the controlling wireless communication at the first frequency for handling traffic on the first frequency, and coupled with the second antenna in each of the sectors for operating at the second frequency as a pilot beacon for handing off calls to and from the first cell in a soft manner.
